Health Information Management

What can I do with this degree?

AREAS	EMPLOYERS	STRATEGIES
HEALTH CARE

Director/Assistant Director

Data Quality Manager Information Security Officer Hospitals
Nursing homes
Consulting Companies
Health Information Service Companies
Clinics and other health care facilities
Medical group practices

- -- Do an internship to gain experience.
- -- Take the American Health Administration Management exam to gain accreditation as a Registered Health Info. Administrator.
- -- Join Amer. Health Info. Management Assoc.

BUSINESS AND LAW

Health Information Specialists Paralegals

Insurance, accounting, and law firms that specialize in health matters

- -- Do an internship to gain experience -- internships in other interested areas (e.g., accounting, law) may also be helpful.
- -- Take the American Health Administration Management exam to gain accreditation as a Registered Health Info. Administrator.
- -- Join Amer. Health Info. Management Assoc.

GENERAL INFORMATION

- -- Good skills to develop:
 - Ability to work under pressure and get along with others
 - Good attention to detail
 - Good judgment and organizational skills
 - Good communication skills

- Most technicians will be employed by hospitals, but job growth will be faster in offices and clinics of physicians, nursing homes, and home health agencies.
- '-- Taking anatomy, physiology, medical terminology, and computer courses can increase marketability. They help with learning terminology and technology.

Prepared by the Professional Experience and Career Planning Office at the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University (2002)