About Disability Support Services

Disability Support Services

The office of Disability Support Services (DSS) collaborates with students with disabilities to ensure equal access to all programs, services and facilities on the LIU Post campus and LIU's regional campuses. The Learning Support Center, of which DSS is a part, provides free assistance to students that is consistent with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act. It is the collaborative effort among the student with a disability, the faculty/staff member, and the DSS office that best contributes to student success.

What we do.

The DSS office provides assistance with reasonable accommodations, academic adjustments, and auxiliary aids and services including, but not limited to, extended time for exams, a separate location for exams, readers and/or scribes for exams, note takers, course material in alternative format, digital audio books, assistive technology and barrier free accessibility.

What are Reasonable Accommodations?

Reasonable accommodations are designed to provide equal access to programs and services for qualified individuals with disabilities. Accommodations are reasonable when they do not fundamentally alter the nature of a program or services and do not represent an undue financial or administrative burden.

Who is Eligible for Services?

Under federal and state laws, a person with a disability is someone who has an impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities. Such disabilities include, but are not limited to, physical, learning, psychological, social, medical and sensory, as well as temporary impairments.

Location and Hours

The office of Disability Support Services is located in the Learning Support Center, Post Hall—Lower Level, East Wing.

Regular Hours:

Monday-Wednesday 8 am—7 pm

Thursday 8 am—5 pm

Friday 9 am—5 pm

Summer and Recess Hours:

Monday-Friday 9 am—5 pm

If you would like to schedule an appointment, please call (516) 299-3057 or email us at Post-LearningSupport@liu.edu

Our Mission

To ensure that students with disabilities have equal access to all aspects of university life.

Student Responsibilities

- ◆ Notify the DSS office that you have a disability and schedule a meeting with a DSS administrator at the start, or prior to the start of the semester, in order to request academic accommodations.
- ◆ Complete a Request for Accommodations Form and submit to the DSS office with the appropriate documentation of your disability that supports your request and describes how the disability currently impacts you. Request for Accommodations Form and disability verification forms are available from the DSS office.
- ◆ Meet with a DSS administrator to complete an intake interview and discuss what accommodations would best support your needs. Approved reasonable accommodations will be determined by both your documentation and your input.
- ◆ Have all instructors sign the DSS Accommodations Form Cover Page during the first week of classes or as soon as you become eligible for services and give provided “copy” to each instructor. Return the Cover Page signed by the instructors to the DSS office.
- ◆ Discuss with the instructor exactly how the accommodations will be arranged. It is suggested that you meet with the instructor for a few minutes after class or during the instructor’s office hours in order to allow both parties to speak openly.
- ◆ Remember to discuss testing arrangements as all testing arrangements are made by the instructor within the academic department.
- ◆ Remind the instructor of special testing accommodations a week before a test is scheduled to be given. If the instructor is unable to make the special testing arrangements within the academic department, then you must contact the DSS office for a “Special Request Exam Form.”
- ◆ Maintain an appropriate level of student conduct within the classroom setting that is expected of all students.
- ◆ Attend classes regularly and keep up with all assignments. Remember, having a note taker accommodation does not preclude you from taking your own notes.
- ◆ If you are experiencing difficulties in a class, meet with the instructor and/or attend a tutoring program. Be proactive!
- ◆ If any problems arise, contact the DSS office as soon as possible so that the problem can be resolved before it becomes a major issue.

Disability Support Services Responsibilities

The DSS office will:

- Be a vehicle by which students can access their accommodations.
- Respond to all students who self-identify during the college admissions or orientation process and are referred to the DSS office, as well as those students who contact the DSS office directly throughout the academic year.
- Maintain confidential files on each student with a disability who requests services from the DSS office.
- Be available to all administrators, instructors, and staff members if questions or concerns arise regarding students with disabilities.
- Be committed to assisting students in self-advocacy and/or advocating for the rights of students with disabilities in appropriate situations.

Confidentiality

The office of Disability Support Services is responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of student records and will not release any medical or psychological records, including psychological-educational evaluations and other related information outside of educational records, without the student's informed and written consent.

Forms that are generated from the DSS office for the purpose of providing accommodations to the student will be considered part of the student's educational record, and therefore, will be subjected to the guidelines of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974 as amended.

The office of Disability Support Services will not reveal the nature of a student's disability without the student's consent. Instructors and staff do not have the right to ask about the nature of a student's disability, and if questioned, the student has the right to withhold such information. However, the student is free to disclose the nature of his/her disability to anyone he/she wishes.

Registering with Disability Support Services

New DSS Students

Requesting Accommodations

The first step in registering with DSS is to request accommodations. Please contact the DSS office to obtain our “Request for Accommodations Form,” which you will complete and return to the DSS office.

Please submit your disability documentation to the DSS office with the completed “Request for Accommodations Form.” Please see page 8 for documentation guidelines.

You may hand deliver the paperwork to our DSS office, which is located in the Learning Support Center, Post Hall, Lower Level-East Wing, fax the form and documentation to the attention of DSS at (516) 299-2126, or mail it to us at:

Disability Support Services
Learning Support Center—Post Hall
LIU Post
720 Northern Blvd
Brookville, NY 11548

Documentation Review

Once you have submitted the appropriate documentation, the DSS office will review the documentation. This process can take up to a week, therefore it is suggested that you submit your documentation as early as possible, preferably before the semester begins.

After your documentation is reviewed, one of the DSS administrators will contact you for an intake interview appointment.

Intake Interview Appointment

The appointment usually takes approximately 30 minutes. During the intake appointment, you will meet with a DSS administrator to discuss the requested accommodations, answer any questions, and determine the appropriate reasonable accommodations based on the documentation and your input.

You will then be provided with an Accommodations Form Cover Page as well as a copy for each of your instructors.

Getting Your Cover Page Signed

Your Accommodations Form Cover Page is to be signed by each of your instructors. Once you have obtained all of your instructors’ signatures, you must bring the signed Accommodations Form Cover Page to the DSS office.

Returning DSS Students

Contact DSS

Contact the DSS office at (516) 299-3057 at the beginning of every semester to schedule an appointment with one of the DSS administrators.

You do NOT need to fill out a “Request for Accommodations” form or submit documentation if you have done so in the past.

Follow the same procedure for having your Accommodations Form Cover Page signed and returned to the DSS office.

Registration Checklists

New DSS Student

Request Accommodations

- Complete a “Request for Accommodations Form”
- Submit appropriate documentation

Documentation Review

- Please allow up to a week for documentation to be reviewed

3. Intake Interview Appointment

- Contacted by DSS administrator to schedule intake interview appointment
- Receive Accommodations Form Cover Page
- Receive Professor’s Copy of DSS Accommodations Form Cover Page for each class in which you are registered and using accommodations

Accommodations Forms

- Present Accommodations Form Cover Page to each instructor

Getting Your Cover Page Signed

- Have each instructor sign the Accommodations Form Cover Page
- Give “copy” to each instructor
- Return signed Accommodations Form Cover Page to DSS office

Returning DSS Student

Contact DSS

- Contact DSS office for appointment each semester

2. Accommodations Forms

- Present Accommodations Form Cover Page to each instructor

3. Getting Your Cover Page Signed

- Have each instructor sign Accommodations Form Cover Page
- Give “copy” to each instructor
- Return signed Accommodations Form Cover Page to DSS office

Remember:

You MUST complete this process every semester in order to access your accommodations.

Accommodations are NOT retroactive, so be sure to schedule your appointment as soon as possible.

Documentation Guidelines

Guidelines for Documentation of a Learning Disability

Students with learning disabilities must provide the DSS office with documentation that meets general documentation guidelines established by this office. Described below is a preferred documentation profile for individuals with learning disabilities, who are requesting accommodations or academic support services. This type of documentation not only validates the presence of a disability under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act, but is most useful in providing information to support educational planning on a case-by-case basis.

Testing must be current

Documentation should reflect the your current, adult level of functioning; therefore, we are looking for testing that is usually no more than 3 years old.

Assessments normed for adults are preferred. What this means is that your assessments should not be assessments for children, but rather tests that are designed for adults, i.e. WAIS-IV rather than WISC-IV.

2. Testing must be comprehensive

Documentation must include appropriate measures of at least three components—intelligence, achievement, information processing, and psychological functioning. A full diagnostic report, including all standard test scores as well as subtest scores and the evaluator's narrative, is recommended.

For students who have a primary diagnosis of Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder, the original testing and results that determined ADHD should also be included.

Testing must be performed by a qualified evaluator

A diagnosis made by (a) qualified professional (s) i.e., licensed school psychologist, licensed psychologist, learning disabilities/educational specialist is suggested. The learning disability diagnosis must be clearly stated. References to academic weaknesses and learning differences alone may not substantiate a learning disability diagnosis.

4. A list of suggested accommodations that might work best for you may also be included

Suggestions for appropriate accommodations are helpful. It is important that these suggestions are based upon functional limitations. If it is not evident why an accommodation is suggested by assessing test scores and resulting functional limitations, then a rationale for the accommodation is necessary.

Note for transfer students: Along with the above information, transfer students are encouraged to provide written verification from the previously attended school, which includes the accommodations used and the dates accommodations were provided.

What types of documentation are not accepted for learning disabilities?

Your most recent IEP or 504 plan from high school are helpful in supplementing the information but will not be accepted by themselves. IEPs and 504 plans cannot be used exclusively for a diagnosis, but they usually support the findings of the psychological-educational evaluation and provide us with helpful background information.

Guidelines for other types of disabilities

Verification Forms for the following disabilities are available in the office of Disability Support Services. You may also request an electronic copy of the Form.

- ADD/ADHD
- Communication Language Disorder
- Hearing Disability
- Medical Disability
- Mobility Disability
- Psychiatric Disability
- Vision Disability

LIU Post's policy on obtaining appropriate documentation

If you have never had a formal assessment of your disability and are requesting accommodations, you must seek testing and are solely responsible for any cost incurred. Similarly, if the documentation submitted to DSS is incomplete or inadequate in determining the current nature of the disability and/or reasonable accommodations, LIU Post has the right to require additional documentation that will supply this information.

The DSS office can supply you with a list of local evaluation sites if needed.

In the event that you are required to obtain additional documentation, provisional accommodations may be provided for one semester.

Laboratory Courses Policy

Statement on Medical Conditions/Pregnant Students Taking Laboratory Courses

Safety has always been the paramount concern of students and faculty working on the LIU Post Campus and this is especially true for safety in lab courses. By maintaining the safety rules, we expect that all students should be able to carry out lab procedures safely. Thus, we remind students with medical conditions, including but not limited to asthma and pregnancy, to seek proper medical advice from a physician in connection with potential risks associated with participating in a laboratory class.

Students are encouraged to provide their physician with a list of the chemicals that they might be exposed to while in lab. They should also check the Material Safety Data Sheets (MSD sheets) available in the Department to be aware of the hazards of these chemicals.

Questions concerning student eligibility for an accommodation will be referred to and decisions will be made by the office of Disability Support Services in the LIU Post Learning Support Center at <http://www.liu.edu/post/dss>. Accommodations are considered reasonable when they do not fundamentally alter the nature of a program, course, or service or present an undue administrative burden on the University. Students requesting accommodations are required to contact the office of Disability Support Services and submit appropriate documentation to verify eligibility under the Americans with Disabilities Act, as amended, and Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

All students taking laboratory courses are required to read, understand and to sign the Department's "Laboratory Safety Rules, Practice and Agreement" before commencing lab work.

Material Safety Data Sheets and related safety information are available in each laboratory/prep room for the chemicals being used during the lab courses and a full set of MSDS's are available in each Department's Laboratory Manager's Office. The safety precautions in place are to be followed by all employees and students and are regarded as sufficient to minimize health and safety risks for everyone participating in lab courses.

Handicapped Parking

Handicapped parking is restricted to students with disabilities (including temporary disabilities) who are entitled to barrier-free access as specified in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and who have a DOT approved permit (i.e. Tag, special plates). You may apply for a handicapped parking sticker through your village or town of residence. This permit will be valid in specially designated Handicapped parking areas.

Specific parking space locations are listed on page 14

You must also have an LIU Post student-parking sticker.

STUDENTS WHO HAVE A DOT APPROVED PERMIT ARE ALSO ENCOURAGED TO REGISTER WITH THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY WHILE REGISTERING THEIR CAR AT LIU POST.

The summons coordinator for the Department of Public Safety will assist students who are entitled to handicapped parking should they receive a ticket.

Students with medically verifiable disabilities, the nature of which does not qualify for Handicapped parking privileges, may apply for a Temporary Parking Permit at the Medical Services Office. This permit is valid in Faculty/Staff parking areas and Non-Handicapped spots only.

Survival Tips

Academic Survival Tips

- Before the semester begins, request a tour of the campus through the Admissions Office to familiarize yourself with the grounds, buildings, and facilities. If necessary become acquainted with the accessible walkways, building entrances, ramps and accessible rest rooms.
- Familiarize yourself with classes. Keep your class schedule handy. Be sure to double check that you have the right time and day that is listed. Classes tend to meet on alternate days instead of daily. Be sure you are not looking for a class that meets on Monday and Wednesday on a Tuesday or Thursday,
- If the time and day are right, but the classroom is empty look for a “change of room” sign or a “class cancellation” sign either posted on the door or the wall directly next to it. Also check your schedule online—room changes are sometimes made at the last minute. If there are no signs posted or change on your online schedule, go to the main office for that department and ask for assistance. Keep in mind that each subject has its own department and its own main office.
- Purchase all textbooks as soon as possible. Obtain a syllabus or class outline from your professors. Enter course requirements and due dates on a calendar that you will have access to daily so that you can constantly remind yourself of approaching deadlines.
- Try your best to keep up on your studies and assignments. Try to avoid having to cram for a test. If you do a little work every day, instead of waiting until something is due, you can avoid adding to your anxiety level.
- The best thing to do is be prepared. You will do better if you can take the night before an exam off and relax. The closer to the test time or deadline for a paper you work, the more stress you create. It is important to note the more stressed you are while trying to study, the less information you will be able to retain. It is more likely that you will make a mistake or even forget the information you already know.

At the beginning of each semester make an appointment to meet with the administrator in the DSS Office to obtain accommodation forms to present to your professors. This process must be followed each semester in order to receive accommodations.

Please contact the office of Disability Support Services by calling (516) 299-3057

Other Survival Tips

- Try to avoid isolation. Sometimes it is hard to make friends when you first come to a new school. If you can and have the time, join a club. Attend campus events like movie night or lectures that you might find interesting. Work out at the gym or create a daily routine that will force you to leave your room.
- Remember, it will take a little time to form new relationships, but you will not be able to form any sitting alone in your room. Check your email for the weekly campus calendar and see if you find anything of interest.
- It is also very important to keep in mind that you are not the only person feeling lonely. There are many students who are new and going through the same experience.
- Do your best to create a schedule that does not leave you with large sections of downtime. Actual class time is only a small portion of your day. If you find yourself wandering around aimlessly or spending hours alone watching TV, try to schedule things into your day. If you cannot find a club or organization that you are interested in, look for part time work on campus
- Either clubs or work will help you connect with your peers. There are a variety of interests on this campus. If your personal interest is not met by an established club, create your own.
- This will allow you to meet other people who share that interest. You can contact the Office of Student Life and Leadership Development at (516) 299-2800

If you need help, ask for it!

- There are many people on this campus willing to help you without passing judgment. If you do not feel comfortable enough to talk to a staff member or peer, call home and talk to a family member or friend.
- If you find yourself not understanding your class work or what is expected of you, talk to someone about it.
- If you find yourself depressed, talk to someone about it.
- If you are feeling lost and alone, talk to someone about it.
- If you are feeling desperate, and you are entertaining suicidal thoughts, talk to someone about it.
- It is common to feel lonely when you are new and alone on a big campus. It is important to remember that you are not the only person feeling alone.
- Keep in mind that at the start of every year, 1/4 of the people on campus are Freshman. They are new here, just like you! You are not the only one!
- Counseling services are provided at the Center for Healthy Living located in the Life Science Building, Room 154. Their phone number is (516) 299-2345. The service is free and totally confidential.
- Long Island Crisis Center-free, private, anonymous help from trained counselors 24/7 at (516) 679-1111 for online counseling www.licconline.org
