LIU Faculty-led Study Abroad Programs

What is a faculty-led study abroad (FLSA) program?

- Academic courses initiated, organized, and carried out by LIU faculty, with assistance from the Office of Vice President for Academic Affairs and Study Abroad Office.
- May involve classroom meetings and coursework before and/or after travel abroad.
- Experience-rich, with cultural activities, visits to museums and performances, field studies, guest lectures, and more.
- Counts for direct LIU credit.
- International program fee covers housing, ground transportation, some meals, cultural activities, and other local arrangements. Tuition, international airfare, and student travel health insurance billed separately.
- Financial aid may apply.

Interested students are encouraged to attend a faculty-led study abroad information meeting for your specific course. Contact the designated faculty leader or the Study Abroad Office for meeting dates.

Application Information

Students interested in participating in a FLSA must turn in the completed FLSA Application to the Study Abroad Office. Forms may be scanned and emailed to abby@liu.edu or dropped off at LIU Promise Office, Hillwood 270.

Students: please include your destination(s) and LIU ID # in the subject line of your email and your full name and ID on all attachments

- After review by the faculty leader(s), successful applicants will receive an admission packet with follow-up forms and a confirmation deposit form. While a deposit is not required with your FLSA application, you must pay the deposit ($500) by the due date in order to secure your place in the program.
- Questions? Contact abby@liu.edu or the faculty leader for your program for additional information
