Bully! Teddy Roosevelt Rides Into Hutton House Lectures

One hundred and eighteen years since he was elected the 26th of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt continues to pervade all aspects of our culture. In honor of his legacy as a national hero and fellow Long Islander, LIU Post's Hutton House Lectures will host a three-part lecture series led by Roosevelt's great grandson, Tweed Roosevelt, and scholars from Harvard and the University of Southern California. Tweed Roosevelt, a graduate of Harvard and Columbia, is chairman of the new Theodore Roosevelt Institute, which will be located in the Hutton House Lectures at Lorber Hall.

The lectures will be held on Fridays, March 29 and April 15 & 12, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Krasnoff Theater in Hillwood Commons.

The cost for the individual lecture is $40. The three-part series is $110. To register, visit webapps.liu.edu/HuttonHouse or call 516.299.2580.

Become a Washington Insider

From the border wall controversy to the State of the Union address to 2020 presidential hopefuls, the nation's attention is steadfastly fixed on Washington, D.C. Hutton House Lectures is proud to bring renowned speakers to engage in contemporary thought and explore the country from many angles and perspectives. Take advantage of these unique opportunities this Spring:

- Conversations with Former Congressman Steve Israel: Tuesdays, March 19, April 23, and May 14, 2019, 1:30 – 3:30 p.m., Krasnoff Theater. $45 per lecture; $125 for the 3-part series
- Presidential Humor: An exploration of wit and humor of the men in the Oval Office, featuring Lincoln, Kennedy and Regan. Guest lecturer: Sal St. George. Monday, March 11, 1 - 3 p.m., Lorber Hall. Fee: $30
- Washington on $5 and $10 Million a Day: President Trump swept into office promising to “drain the swamp.” What is this swamp and how might it ever be drained? Guest lecturer: Shai Franklin. Wednesdays, March 27 to April 10, 10 a.m. – 12 noon, Lorber Hall. 3 Sessions. Fee: $90.

HAPPY PRESIDENTS’ DAY – Monday, February 18
Wishing you a safe and restful day. Classes resume Tuesday, February 19 at Hutton House.
On the third Monday in February, we celebrate Washington’s Birthday, or Presidents’ Day, which honors the life and work of the first president of the United States. The federally recognized holiday has been celebrated since 1879.

In our own corner on the LIU Post campus is a year-long tribute to George Washington, captured in hand-painted wallpaper in the Winnick House mansion. Installed around 1929, when the building was owned by cereal heiress Marjorie Merriweather Post, a 360-degree panoramic story depicts events leading up to the inauguration of George Washington.

On April 23, 1789, Washington arrived in New York City, where he was greeted by New York Governor George Clinton as well as many congressmen and citizens. Washington was inaugurated as the first President of the United States on April 30, 1789, at Federal Hall in New York (pictured), then the nation’s capitol. Other views on the wallpaper depict Washington crossing the Delaware and worshipping at St. Paul’s Chapel in lower Manhattan.

LIU Post artist Dan Christoffel, internationally recognized for his portraits of historical figures such as Lincoln, Walt Whitman and Mark Twain, will be teaching in Hutton House this summer.